PERCEPTION CHECK

When Franco comes home from the doctor's office, you notice that he looks pale and his shoulders are slumped. Glancing at you with a sad look, he shrugs his shoulders. You say: from your pale face , I get the feeling that there is something wrong with you. Is everything alright or there is something you are hiding from me?

2. As you return the basketball you borrowed from Lima, you smile and say, "Thanks, here's your ball." You notice Liam stiffen, grab the ball, and, turning abruptly, walk away.

You say: Did something happened ? You are behaving very awkward and offensive. You look like in state of shock and anger. Am I right? Is there anything I can do for you?

3. Natalie, who has been waiting to hear about a scholarship, dances into the room with a huge grin on her face.

You say: the happiness on your face and the way you are dancing shows you have got a good news about the scholarship you were waiting for. Am I right?

You see your adviser in the hall and ask her if she can meet with you on Wednesday afternoon to discuss your schedule of classes for next term. You notice that she pauses, frowns, sighs, turns slowly, and says, “I guess so.”

You say: Mam is everything alright? If you are not available on Wednesday we can discuss the schedule according to your convenience any other day.
